Wife Who Once Appealed To King for Flier Is Killed

DURANGO, Colo. (AP)—A teenage wife, who last April appealed to a visiting king to help her Air Academy husband, was killed Wednesday in an auto accident near here.

Barbara Ann Barnwell, 18, of Denver, was dead when officers arrived. Driver of the auto was her husband, Lt. Lee Barnwell, 23, of Greenville, S.C. Their sports car struck a culvert and overturned.

Patrolman Herbert Luoma said Barbara was dead when he arrived at the scene. Passers-by were tending to her husband.

"I'm O.K.," he told the officer. "She's in good hands," Luoma replied.

Barnwell didn't learn until several hours later, in Mercy Hospital here, that his bride of six days died in the crash.

For four months before Barnwell's graduation, he had been confined to the academy grounds near Colorado Springs for breaking regulations on operating a personal car.

Barnwell was punished for driving a personal auto to Denver in order to see his fiancée after a minor operation.

The operation was shortly after they had met in the academy chapel.

"He took pity on a little girl with a broken foot," Barbara said last week. "I never believed in love at first sight until then, but I do now."

She suffered the fractured foot in a skiing accident. The operation was to correct the injury.

Her fiancée was at her side as she came out from under the anesthetic. He did not tell her he had broken academy rules about driving a car so he could be with her when she needed him.

He didn't see her again until graduation day. They were married the next day in Denver.

"I would stand on a hill and wave my handkerchief at him," Barbara said on the eve of the wedding. "He used a pair of binoculars to see me. Those were our dates."

Barbara took hope in April that King Hussein of Jordan would grant amnesty to Barnwell and other errant cadets upon the King's scheduled academy visit.

Monarchs traditionally have that privilege when visiting U.S. service academies. But a snowstorm caused the monarch to bypass the academy.

The bride-to-be wired Hussein in Chicago, explaining her plight. He expressed sympathy for the young couple's cause, but was unable to return.

GOP in Ohio Aims for '60

4 Goals Outlined To Assure Victory

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republican State Chairman Ray C. Bliss told party leaders today an Ohio GOP victory can be achieved in the 1960 election.

It can be done, he said, "if we have the right type of candidates, perfect our organization, constructively present the issues, and do the kind of organizing job we are capable of doing."

More than 275 party leaders heard him speak at the largest Republican meeting in Columbus since the 1958 campaign. Attending the all-day session in the Neil House were county chairmen and chairwomen, county finance chairmen and members of the GOP state committee.

Bliss, in his prepared address, offered a four-point prescription with which he said the GOP can win in 1960:

1. The right candidates: "Qualified and intelligent candidates who are concerned with the problems of the people in every walk of life and are willing to aggressively campaign on the issues."

2. The right issues: "Clearly defined issues such as the whopping additional tax burden with which the people of Ohio are now being saddled by a Democrat governor and a Democrat majority in the Legislature."

3. Adequate party financing: "A financing program with a broader base so that more and more people will have the feeling of actually being a part of the Republican team."

4. Precinct power: "Working harder than ever to perfect our party organization with an army of sincere men and women who will volunteer to sell the Republican party and its candidates in every household in the neighborhood."

The state chairman warned that the Democrats "already are on the march in Ohio. Labor unions are in the process of setting up paid representatives in every county in the state. In practically every instance they are working for the Democratic party and its candidates."

Bliss said Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and his Democratic majority in the Legislature "are providing us with plenty of state issues."

He said the people around Ohio are "more than a little irritated" about DiSalle's "tax bite, the biggest ever conceived by any governor in Ohio's history."

Herter Tries Private Talk Approach To Sway Russia

Outraged Mother Attacks County Health Official

An outraged Route 1, Mt. Sterling woman, bent on revenge, attacked Pickaway County Health Nurse Mrs. Robert Pickens, 127 Park St., this morning in County Probate Court.

Mrs. Frances Teets was sentenced to 10 days in the County Jail as a result of her surprise back pounding attack upon Mrs. Pickens. She was charged with contempt of court.

Mrs. Teets was leaving the Probate courtroom after a hearing before Judge Guy G. Cline. She was charged with removing her teenage daughter from a Columbus tuberculosis sanitarium without proper authorization and lying about her daughter's age to obtain a marriage license.

Mrs. Teets swore she would get even with Mrs. Pickens for her daughter's re-admittance into the tuberculosis sanitarium and proceeded to attack her.

AFTER ADMINISTERING several swift and brutal blows, Mrs. Teets was subdued by her husband and Herald Reporter James I. Smith III.

She was taken back into the courtroom and sentenced. County Sheriff's Deputy Charles Felkey removed Mrs. Teets to jail.

Judge Cline earlier reprimanded Mr. and Mrs. Teets for removing their daughter from the tuberculosis sanitarium and continued the marriage license case until further investigation. Then Mrs. Teets made her attack.

According to the charges, Mrs. Teets took her daughter from the sanitarium and immediately brought her daughter here for a marriage license.

Mrs. Teets said her daughter is 16 years of age and admitted she lied about her age to school and hospital authorities.

She claims no birth certificate is available in West Virginia, the child's place of birth.

The pickup truck was operated by James W. Pontius, 39, Route 1, Stoutsville. He was not injured in the crash.

PATROLMAN William Brungs said the truck was coming toward Circleville on the Lancaster Pike and was attempting to make a left turn onto Route 56.

According to witnesses, the Vanhoose motorbike was traveling north on Mingo St. Patrolman Brungs said the two vehicles collided in the intersection.

The boy fell through a glass door at his home while playing. The broken glass ripped a nine-inch gash in his abdominal wall. Several loops of intestine were also cut.

He was admitted to a hospital here for surgery.

Gromyko Shows Some Signs He May Cut Price

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter met with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today to find out if there is any basis for continuing negotiations for a Berlin agreement.

Taking the lead for the West in the Big Four negotiations, Herter met with Gromyko after consulting with his Western colleagues.

Herter had talked for 30 minutes with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, and Ambassador Wilhelm Grewe of West Germany.

Gromyko showed some signs of willingness to lower his price for ending the Soviet threat to West Berlin temporarily.

Herter and his colleagues had to find out, however, whether Gromyko was willing to lower the price enough to give further negotiation reasonable hope of agreement.

They were completely opposed to accepting the Soviet suggestion for a one-year deadline on a Berlin settlement, which the Russians could use to prolong the threat of a future blockade.

It was understood that the method of approach was to try to determine whether there were elements in various Western proposals on Berlin and in the unacceptable Soviet package plan of Wednesday which could be pulled out to provide a hopeful new basis for continuing the talks here.

Failing this, an early collapse of the conference was a serious possibility.

Gromyko denied Western charges that the Soviet proposal is a take-it-or-leave-it ultimatum.

Western officials believed Gromyko had contacted Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to report the violent U.S.-British-French reaction to the new Soviet proposal and to discuss the possibility of modifications.

President Eisenhower and Herter were reported ready to scrap all consideration of a summit conference itself was in recess for one day, with another semipublic formal session set for Friday afternoon. This gave all four foreign ministers time to consult with their governments at home.

The new Soviet proposal in essence is this:

The Soviet Union would suspend its demand for an immediate end to Western occupation rights in Berlin and would guarantee Western supply lines into West Berlin for a year.

In return the Western powers would (1) reduce their 10,000-man garrison in West Berlin to symbolic contingents totaling about 150 men, (2) would eliminate "hostile propaganda" and all "subversive activities" from West Berlin against the Soviet bloc, and (3) would ban missile installations and atomic weapons in West Berlin.

There was no suggestion of matching Communist action in East Berlin.

DAVIS' REPLY stated the Orient writ "did not contain facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action." He said the petition was demurrable because state statute uses the language "may".

Orient desired the change in township lines to give its village the benefit of taxes collected from residents within the village limits.

At present the village maintains taxes collected from residents go to township trustees who are not using the tax monies for the benefit of the village. Its taxes amount to approximately $800 per year.

Attorney Penn said he felt Judge Ammer's opinion was "unfair." He said he may take further action, but noted that his plans are indefinite at the present.

Dr. Gordon G. Lill, head of the geophysics branch of the Office of Naval Research, says a lot of scientists are excited about the hole he wants to drill, perhaps 6 miles deep.

Lill's project is known as the Moho Project. Simply explained, he wants to drill as deep into the earth as possible for samples of natural history not now available.

Lill is among scientists attending the "Undiscovered Earth" conference of the Southern Research Institute.

The Moho Project will cost between 10 and 15 million dollars. Lill wants a sample of 1,000 feet of mantle beneath the earth's crust. He believes this will answer many questions of the earth's origin.

Sales Tax Stamps Retained in Bill Passed by Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's sales tax stamps are here to stay—at least for another two years.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and his cohorts fought a long, bitter, but losing battle in the Senate Wednesday night to junk the stamp-receipt system as an unjustified waste.

Shortly before midnight, a bedraggled and ravenous Senate passed 19-13 a sales tax revision bill which retains the present stamp system. The bill now goes to the House.

The House earlier, in a much more prompt session, passed and sent to the Senate a bill to increase the price of auto license tags from $10 to $12.50 to help solve the highway money problems of local governments. The vote was 76-53.

Revived, approved and sent to the Senate a proposed constitutional amendment to lower the voting age in Ohio from 21 to 18 years. Defeated Tuesday by a margin of four votes, it was reconsidered and approved 86-43, two more than the required three-fifths majority.

The marathon Senate session, after starting nearly three hours late, lasted for seven agonizing hours with no recess for dinner. Six hours were occupied by the sales tax debate.

Even though he lost on the stamp elimination issue, DiSalle could salvage his defeat with the thought that he picked up an estimated extra 10 million dollars in the process in state treasury revenue.

That windfall came from the fact the Senate, by a 17-15 vote, eliminated the traditional 2 percent discount on the price of sales tax stamps to retailers as a fee for collecting the tax. The amendment was sponsored by Sen. William Baker (D-Montgomery).

And, adding an undetermined amount of savings to the state, the Senate eliminated sales tax stamps in connection with the purchase of automobiles. In auto purchases, stamps serve no purpose because a purchaser must show the tax has been paid in order to get title to his car. That amendment was sponsored by Sen. Ross Pepple (R-Allen) and adopted 19-13.

Far from being downhearted, DiSalle indicated to newsmen he believes Wednesday night's hectic session indicates tax stamps are on their way out in the next legislative session.

He pointed out the political plums of sales tax agencies are bound to be less attractive with the elimination of sales tax on autos—about 25 percent of all taxable sales. And, he added, merchants are going to like the stamps less and less with their discounts eliminated, forcing them to do the tax collection chore for free.

The start of the delayed Senate session was enlivened by an unusual "call of the Senate," a device which can be employed to compel members to be present. The call was demanded by Sen. William H. Deddens (R-Hamilton) after DiSalle's secretary, Maurice Connell, hailed Sen. John J. Corrigan (D-Cuyahoga) off the Senate floor, presumably for a chat with the governor.

Jury Selected To Hear Klumpp Murder Case

CINCINNATI (AP)—A jury of six men and six women, plus two alternates, was completed today for the first-degree murder trial of Edythe Klumpp.

A few minutes later, Judge Frank Gusweiler turned down a defense claim that the fact Mrs. Klumpp burned the body of Mrs. Louise Bergen had nothing to do with the charge of premeditated murder against Mrs. Klumpp.

Mrs. Klumpp is accused of killing Mrs. Bergen, estranged wife of Mrs. Klumpp's lover, last Oct. 30, and burning the body the next day.

Judge Gusweiler's ruling came as defense attorney William F. Hopkins sought to prevent the jury from being taken to view the spot at Lake Cowan in nearby Clinton County where Mrs. Bergen's body was burned.

Conceding that the burning of the body was "horrible and despicable," Hopkins declared it had nothing to do with premeditation.

Judge Gusweiler said he knew of no other case in which such a matter had come up.

The jurors and alternates will be taken by bus Friday to Lake Cowan and other key scenes in Hamilton County.

Opening statements by the attorneys will be made next Monday and the stage set for presentation of testimony.

Hopkins also obtained a subpoena this morning to have Mrs. Klumpp's automobile, in which Mrs. Bergen was killed, brought to the courthouse for trial. He has said he will insist that it be brought into the courtroom, which is on the third floor.

The subpoena directed that the automobile be restored to the condition in which it existed at the time police confiscated it. It referred specifically to restoration of the car seats and the interior to their original condition.

Police have said they found bloodstains in the car.

The state claims the slaying occurred because Mrs. Bergen would not agree to a divorce so her husband, William, and Mrs. Klumpp could be married.

Hoover said last week that Bergen would be called as a witness for the state. He now is reported to be in Washington, D.C.

Attorney observers expressed belief today that Bergen's appearance might bring on another legal hassle.

Ohio law recognizes common law marriages if neither party has a legal husband or wife. Under that, a common law husband could be required to testify against his common law wife.

The state contends Mrs. Klumpp and Bergen had been living together for some time prior to the slaying.

Police said Bergen continued to live at Mrs. Klumpp's home until her arrest in mid-November.

Attorneys wondered if Hopkins would object to testimony by Bergen and whether the period between October 30 and November 17—when Mrs. Klumpp was arrested—could be considered long enough to establish common law marriage if the defense wishes to claim it.

Opposition Readies Fire At Adenauer

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Vice-Chancellor Ludwig Erhard today faced the first test of their patched-up alliance—a critical onslaught from the opposition parties in Parliament.

The Socialists and Free Democrats planned to exploit the ruling Christian Democrats' bitter party squabble during debate in the Bundestag on the federal budget.

With Adenauer's majority party once more united, there was no chance of the opposition attracting enough votes to overthrow the government on a vote of confidence.

Instead the Socialists and Free Democrats planned to build up a propaganda record for the 1961 election campaign by criticizing the Christian Democratic split resulting from Adenauer's decision to continue as chancellor and not step up to the West German presidency.

Adenauer's official explanation was that a worsening international situation required him to continue at the helm. But privately he was highly critical of Erhard.

Returning from a visit to Washington, Erhard said he would challenge Adenauer's decision and his criticism. The split was patched up Wednesday—at least on the surface.

Bike Rider Injured Here

Youth, 14, Said 'Satisfactory'

Keith Vanhoose, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Vanhoose, E. Ohio St., suffered a fractured left leg and back and hip injuries when the motorbike he was riding was struck by a truck at Main and Mingo Sts. at 7:30 a. m. today.

Young Vanhoose was rushed to Berger Hospital and later transferred to University Hospital, Columbus. He was listed in "satisfactory" condition in the Columbus hospital at noon today.

Hospital officials said the youth suffered three fractures of the left leg.

The pickup truck was operated by James W. Pontius, 39, Route 1, Stoutsville. He was not injured in the crash.

Rural Zoning Proposals Strike at Trailer Courts

By JAMES I. SMITH III
Herald Staff Reporter

Pickaway County is becoming one of the most progressing industrial counties in Ohio and with "Progress" comes problems.

The No. 1 problem worrying and distressing northern area residents of Pickaway County is the heavy influx of trailer courts.

During the past several years, trailer courts in townships bordering Franklin County, have increased in size and number many times over.

To many persons this influx of trailer courts and families, in a small area, means business and prosperity. These people include the trailer court owners and land owners on whose property the trailer courts have settled.

Herter Tries Private Talk Approach To Sway Russia

An outraged Route 1, Mt. Sterling woman, bent on revenge, attacked Pickaway County Health Nurse Mrs. Robert Pickens, 127 Park St., this morning in County Probate Court.

Mrs. Frances Teets was sentenced to 10 days in the County Jail as a result of her surprise back pounding attack upon Mrs. Pickens. She was charged with contempt of court.

Ammer Denies Orient Writ Of Mandamus

Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer today upheld the demurrer filed by the local county commissioners to the writ of mandamus filed by the village of Orient asking to change the township lines of Scioto Twp., making it a separate political subdivision.

The Commissioners' demurrer was filed by their legal representative, County Prosecutor Ray W. Davis. It was filed in answer to a writ of mandamus filed by Orient's attorney, Richard W. Penn.

Judge Ammer's opinion was that it was not mandatory upon the commissioners to grant change of township lines. The jurist said this right to change township lines was discretionary with the Commissioners.

The Orient writ maintained the commissioners refused to grant the petition although the law enjoins them to do so.

DAVIS' REPLY stated the Orient writ "did not contain facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action." He said the petition was demurrable because state statute uses the language "may."

Orient desired the change in township lines to give its village the benefit of taxes collected from residents within the village limits.

Union Shuns New Proposal

NEW YORK (AP)—The steel industry has made an overture—quickly rejected by the union—that the industry drop its insistence on a one-year wage freeze if the union would make specific concessions on other contract terms.

That leaves the United Steelworkers of America and the industry still deadlocked less than three weeks from a strike deadline.

The industry proposed eight contract changes which it said would increase efficiency and reduce waste.

Gromyko Shows Some Signs He May Cut Price

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter met with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today to find out if there is any basis for continuing negotiations for a Berlin agreement.

Navy Scientist Hopes To Dig Deepest Hole

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A Navy research scientist wants to dig the deepest hole ever dug. Where? He doesn't know. He is looking for an easy way through the earth's crust.

Dr. Gordon G. Lill, head of the geophysics branch of the Office of Naval Research, says a lot of scientists are excited about the hole he wants to drill, perhaps 6 miles deep.

Lill's project is known as the Moho Project. Simply explained, he wants to drill as deep into the earth as possible for samples of natural history not now available. Lill is among scientists attending the "Undiscovered Earth" conference of the Southern Research Institute.

The Moho Project will cost between 10 and 15 million dollars. Lill wants a sample of 1,000 feet of mantle beneath the earth's crust. He believes this will answer many questions of the earth's origin.

Sales Tax Stamps Retained in Bill Passed by Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's sales tax stamps are here to stay—at least for another two years. Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and his cohorts fought a long, bitter, but losing battle in the Senate Wednesday night to junk the stamp-receipt system as an unjustified waste.

Shortly before midnight, a bedraggled and ravenous Senate passed 19-13 a sales tax revision bill which retains the present stamp system. The bill now goes to the House.

The House earlier, in a much more prompt session:

Passed and sent to the Senate a bill to increase the price of auto license tags from $10 to $12.50 to help solve the highway money problems of local governments. The vote was 76-53.

Revived, approved and sent to the Senate a proposed constitutional amendment to lower the voting age in Ohio from 21 to 18 years. Defeated Tuesday by a margin of four votes, it was reconsidered and approved 86-43, two more than the required three-fifths majority.

The marathon Senate session, after starting nearly three hours late, lasted for seven agonizing hours with no recess for dinner. Six hours were occupied by the sales tax debate.

Even though he lost on the stamp elimination issue, DiSalle could save his defeat with the thought that he picked up an estimated extra 10 million dollars in the process in state treasury revenue.

That windfall came from the fact the Senate, by a 17-15 vote, eliminated the traditional 2 per cent discount on the price of sales tax stamps to retailers as a fee for collecting the tax. The amendment was sponsored by Sen. William Baker (D-Montgomery).

And, adding an undetermined amount of savings to the state, the Senate eliminated sales tax stamps in connection with the purchase of automobiles. In auto purchases, stamps serve no purpose because a purchaser must show the tax has been paid in order to get title to his car. That amendment was sponsored by Sen. Ross Pepple (R-Allen) and adopted 19-13.

Far from being downhearted, DiSalle indicated to newsmen he believes Wednesday night's hectic session indicates tax stamps are on their way out in the next legislative session.

He pointed out the political plums of sales tax agencies are bound to be less attractive with the elimination of sales tax on autos—about 25 per cent of all taxable sales. And, he added, merchants are going to like the stamps less and less with their discounts eliminated, forcing them to do the tax collection chore for free.

The start of the delayed Senate session was enlivened by an unusual "call of the Senate," a device which can be employed to compel members to be present. The call was demanded by Sen. William H. Deddens (R-Hamilton) after DiSalle's secretary, Maurice Connell, hailed Sen. John J. Corrigan (D-Cuyahoga) off the Senate floor, presumably for a chat with the governor.

Opposition Readies Fire At Adenauer

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Vice Chancellor Ludwig Erhard today faced the first test of their patched-up alliance—a critical onslaught from the opposition parties in Parliament.

The Socialists and Free Democrats planned to exploit the ruling Christian Democrats' bitter party squabble during debate in the Bundestag on the federal budget.

With Adenauer's majority party once more united, there was no chance of the opposition attracting enough votes to overthrow the government on a vote of confidence.

Instead the Socialists and Free Democrats planned to build up a propaganda record for the 1961 election campaign by criticizing the Christian Democratic split resulting from Adenauer's decision to continue as chancellor and not step up to the West German presidency.

Adenauer's official explanation was that a worsening international situation required him to continue at the helm. But privately he was highly critical of Erhard.

Returning from a visit to Washington, Erhard said he would challenge Adenauer's decision and his criticism. The split was patched up Wednesday—at least on the surface.

New Nosecone Sought after Missile Firing

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A powerful Thor-Able missile hurled a highly-advanced nose cone 5,500 miles over the Atlantic today, dropping it in the Atlantic near Ascension Island.

Recovery ships and planes began an immediate search for the tiny cone.

The fiery Thor-Able rocket shot from the Cape at 1:44 a.m. EST. More than two hours later the Air Force announced that "preliminary instrumentation data indicates the re-entry test vehicle achieved most of the test objectives."

Bastardy Case Dismissed

The Pickaway County Common Pleas Court case of Roxie Tatman vs. Charles D. Picklesimer was dismissed Monday for want of prosecution.

Miss Tatman had filed bastardy charges against Picklesimer. On March 16 the local court upheld a demurrer filed by Picklesimer that as a minor, Miss Tatman could not file such charges.

The court gave Miss Tatman a prescribed time to obtain a next of friend adult to refile the charges. This was not done.

Rape Victim Tells of Pleas

Negro Coed Testifies Against 4 Whites

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—A slim Negro coed testified softly to day that she begged and wept in vain while four white youths raped her repeatedly last May 2.

"I was begging them to let me go," said the girl from the witness stand where the four youths are on trial for their life. "I started crying and they said to shut up."

"There wasn't anything I could do with four men with a knife and a gun but do what they said to do."

Earlier the defense had claimed the 19-year-old university freshman made no protest, and may even have consented.

State Atty. William D. Hopkins asked the girl:

"No sir, I didn't," the girl replied.

The girl whose name cannot be published under Florida law, is a slender youngster of medium height with fragile dark features.

She testified in the soft, fluid accent of her native South while her hands nervously worked a handkerchief.

The lawyer for Willian T. Collinsworth, 23, one of the defendants, told an all-male jury in his opening defense statement: "She stated 'you can have it if you want it, if you take me back to school.'"

Atty. S. Gunter Toney added: "It is a close question whether or not consent was given."

The state has accused the four youths of forcibly raping the girl after abducting her at gunpoint from her Negro date of the evening.

State Atty. William D. Hopkins said he planned to get right into the major part of his case against the four, who would draw death sentences if convicted without a recommendation of mercy.

The 19-year-old freshman coed at the all-Negro Florida A&M University here stood in a long line of nearly 60 state and defense witnesses Wednesday night to be sworn.

Selection of the jury was completed early Wednesday night. It was qualified by Hopkins to enforce the death penalty. A dozen prospective jurors were excused by the court when they said they had conscientious objections to capital punishment.

The defendants are Willian T. Collinsworth, 23, who is married and has two small children; David E. Beagles, 18, a stocky high school senior with sandy cropped hair; Ollie Stoutamire, 16, a frail, slender youth who dropped out of high school; and Patrick G. Scarborough, 20, a wiry Air Force man who lost both his parents at the age of seven.

Sheriff Bill Joyce said all four boys admitted raping the Negro girl.

No white man ever has been electrocuted in Florida for raping a Negro. A recommendation of mercy accompanying a conviction could bring any sentence up to life at the discretion of the judge.

Residents of the three affected townships are not concerned with the ideological factors and objectives of rural zoning. They are primarily concerned with one starting factor — trailer courts are a threat to their financial status.

At present there are few ways to accomplish this. Either a way must be found to make trailer courts pay more for public services or eliminate them by zoning immediately, zoning supporters state.

dents in the Teays Valley were disturbed that Federal money was being lent to an enterprise that was going to handicap a school district's finances.

Knowledgeable zoning authorities don't give the three townships much chance of getting a zoning proposal before voters in the forthcoming general election.

MANY DIVERSE and complicated steps are necessary for a township or county to adopt zoning regulations.

County zoning must start with the commissioners who initially must declare their intention to proceed with a zoning proposal.

A five-member zoning commission must be appointed from the unincorporated part of the county.

Next, a comprehensive zoning plan must be prepared. This is usually done by the zoning commission holding informal discussions with concerned property owners regarding the proposed zoning.

The zoning commission must draft zoning regulations of the area to be zoned, prepare a map of land classifications and make a written description of that map.

A public hearing must then be held by the zoning commission. A 30-day notice of this hearing is required. As a result of this hearing, the commission may revise its zoning map in light of facts brought forth at the public hearing.

IF THE commission disapproves or suggests material change, a second public hearing must be held. Again a 30-day notice is required.

Once the zoning plan is approved by the commission it is certified to the County Commissioners. The Commissioners are then required to hold a public hearing with the usual 30-day notice.

If the Commissioners desire a change in the text or map they must resubmit it to the zoning commission for its approval. Another public hearing is then required upon receipt of recommendations from the zoning commission.

The Commissioners, after all have been satisfied, must vote upon the proposed zoning resolution.

Finally the Commissioners submit the proposed zoning to the electors of the unincorporated area of the county for their approval.

These same general procedures are required for township zoning, except they need County Commissioner and zoning commission board approval.

EVERYONE concerned realizes that for the benefit of Harrison, Scioto and Madison townships this action is approximately 10 years too late.

So many trailer courts have already appeared in county territory that school and road finances have been drastically encroached upon.

Unless action is taken by the Ohio General Assembly to tax house trailers in proportion to their value, these cost problems will continue. There are already such bills in committee in the Legislature.

Residents of the three affected townships are not concerned with the ideological factors and objectives of rural zoning. They are primarily concerned with one starting factor — trailer courts are a threat to their financial status.

At present there are few ways to accomplish this. Either a way must be found to make trailer courts pay more for public services or eliminate them by zoning immediately, zoning supporters state.

Start Dairy Project Now, 4-Hers Told

"Start now to fit your 4-H dairy animal" was the advice of C. L. Blackman, extension dairy specialist, who demonstrated fitting and showing techniques to 4-H members Tuesday night. "Dairy animals should be out on pasture only at night if you plan to show them at the Pickaway County Fair," Blackman told nearly 50 4-H members, advisors, and parents.

Brent Bowman, Washington Hill Climbers, and his father, Pete Bowman, furnished two dairy animals for the demonstration which was held at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

Blackman further indicated that 4-H members should wash their animal soon as well as trim the hoofs if needed. The club members should also be training their animals to lead and show at this time.

This 4-H dairy workshop was one of a series planned by the 4-H Advisory Council, according to Clarence J. Cunningham, county extension agent, 4-H. The next workshop planned is on swine on June 17.

Parked Auto Disappears

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department is investigating the theft of a car which had been parked on Route 23 about four miles south of here.

Deputy Charles Felkey said the auto is owned by Mildred Mattingly, Columbus. He said the theft was reported yesterday.

The owner said she parked the car off the highway on May 10 after it had broken down. She said that when she returned to the auto on May 10 a tire was missing.

She explained that when she again returned yesterday the car was gone. A check with the local sheriff's department and the State Highway Patrol revealed that the auto had not been impounded.

Farmers Open Purse Strings

The nation's farmers are in a spending mood this spring, the Wall Street Journal reports. Buoyed by good crops, farmers are not only buying more machinery but more autos, appliances and household goods.

Secondhand tractors, corn planters and other types of used farm machinery are bringing sharply higher prices, reports the Journal. "These prices are one of the most sensitive measures of farmer spending because the prices dealers get for secondhand equipment are highly elastic, moving up and down as demand and spending attitudes of farmers change." Because the farm population of the country totals more than 20 million—or about 12 per cent of the total population—the loosening of their purse strings is a potent force in the general economic upturn.

Monuments to Man's Culture

Buildings grow brown and grey and even black with soot and weather and the forgetfulness of men. So one passes through a small town to see what once, perhaps when Gen. Grant was President, was a magnificent structure, a town hall or the local courthouse or even the local opera house, all fancifully designed and cupolaed.

So it is even in the largest cities, where slums creep up like tropical vines to choke everything in their path. In New York, for instance, there was a time when the Metropolitan Opera House was the temple of the arts and one approached it in that mood. And Carnegie Hall was a sanctuary of music to which one came with respect and properly attired.

Times do change. The Metropolitan inside is still magnificent, but the audience, alas! seems to have lost its way and particularly on Monday nights would improve itself if it went to the movies. As with the Metropolitan Opera House, so with Carnegie Hall, the exterior of the building is no longer beautiful. In the eyes of the present generations, beauty is of a different order.

At any rate, all this is to change and we are to have here in New York, one of the most beautiful and concentrated art centers the world has ever known. It is now called the Lincoln Square Project and it is part of the city's slum clearance program—an effort to use both public and private money to make New York the most beautiful city in the world.

The first open-air, public school classes in the country were conducted in Cleveland in 1939 as a step in the war on tuberculosis.

It might take a century to achieve all that is being planned to restore New York to beauty but if the will of man is strong, no achievement is impossible. The Lincoln Square Project was once beyond imagination; now it is an actuality.

In one center, now occupied principally by slum dwellings, will be the Metropolitan Opera, the Philharmonic (which will replace Carnegie Hall), the Juilliard School, a library of the performing arts, a theater for the dance, part of Fordham University, and probably before it is all completed many other cultural institutions. This will be landscaped in a gardenlike area, through which traffic will not flow.

Of this, Robert Moses, the genius of rebuilding and beautifying, said:

"This is indeed our claim to building the boldest and most complex urban slum clearance project in America, substituting for urban rot not only new residence and business but education, culture, the performing arts, the Red Cross and a dozen related services and utilities.

"Here we rebuild by free co-operation of Federal and city agencies, by the use of private risk capital and by the donation of large funds by generous individuals and philanthropic corporations. Here we stake our claim that New York will become the World Center of the Performing Arts as it has already become the World Political Capital."

By George Sokolsky

There are many points of view about New York. One is that it has become a monster, strangulating itself by its traffic; unable to govern itself because of its immensity; stifled by excessive taxes and incompetent administration.

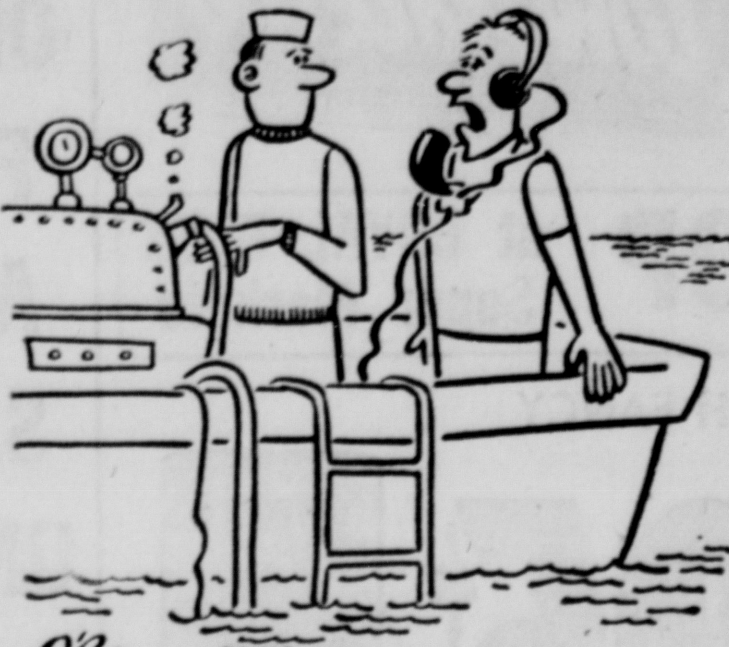

There are some who believe that whoever can will desert the large cities, to dwell in suburbs where they can know their neighbors and engage in mutual aid activities. But there are forward-looking men, such as Robert Moses and John D. Rockefeller III, who recognize that cultured human beings congregate about centers of civilization and that such places throughout history have been large cities, Athens, Rome, Alexandria, Jerusalem, Peking, Baghdad, London, Paris, New York.

And as the brick and mortar of such places decay, they seem always to rise again as though by an immutable law. As peoples emerge and rise in civilization, they built cities; as the race decays the cities decay and people slowly revert to the clods which we all, at one time, were.

It is possible to see what has happened to Bokhara and Khiva, ancient cities of magnificence, which now are mud-holes within the Soviet Union. But even at this moment, they are emerging again as centers of learning and of a newer Asia. They are places of revival, whatever their cities are called by their conquerors.

While many fear bombs and missiles and build for themselves cellars for safety, noble and imaginative men and women erect Lincoln Square as a monument to American culture in its greatest city.

Ways To Soothe the Baby

By Herman N. Bundesten, M.D.

Nobody likes to listen to a baby cry.

And most mothers — and dads, too — immediately want to do something to comfort and soothe the baby when he first lets out a wail.

Sometimes, however, you might find it a bit difficult to stem those heart-rending sobs. So I'd like to pass on a few tips which I think may be helpful.

It is a fundamental instinct to pick the baby up, clasp him to your shoulder and try to soothe him. In many, many cases this is all that is necessary. If this works, and you can pop the little tyke back into his crib without launching another crying session, you have solved the immediate problem.

Next time, however, this might not be enough to satisfy him. In such a case, rocking may be the answer.

You don't see cradles in homes today and I think that is unfortunate. For a rocking motion seems to please the vast majority of babies.

Holding the crying baby in your arms and rocking in a rocking chair would be a satisfactory substitute. But you don't see many rocking chairs any more, either.

Probably the best you can do is to push the bassinet gently back and forth until the infant stops crying.

Sometimes rubbing the baby's back will do the trick. Or if you can fix his attention on something — maybe some soothing music or a fascinating baby mobile — he might cease crying.

Some babies solve their own problems by sucking their thumbs. Some parents use pacifiers as a substitute.

The suggestions I have just listed apply only to those cases in which the baby has no serious physical trouble.

If the baby is hungry, feeding is the only real solution.

If a pin is sticking him, no mere pat on the back is going to halt the pain.

And if he is ill or injured, naturally, a doctor should be summoned immediately.

Often, though, even the anguish of colic can be alleviated somewhat by some of the methods I have just described.

Certainly, they are at least worth a try.

Question and Answer

C. G.: Will the use of tobacco by a person 20 years old cause heart trouble?

Answer: The use of tobacco will not necessarily cause heart trouble. However, there is more question of the relationship of heavy cigarette smoking over a period of years to lung cancer and other diseases.

Sometimes rubbing the baby's back will do the trick. Or if you can fix his attention on something — maybe some soothing music or a fascinating baby mobile — he might cease crying.

Some babies solve their own problems by sucking their thumbs. Some parents use pacifiers as a substitute.

The suggestions I have just listed apply only to those cases in which the baby has no serious physical trouble.

If the baby is hungry, feeding is the only real solution.

If a pin is sticking him, no mere pat on the back is going to halt the pain.

And if he is ill or injured, naturally, a doctor should be summoned immediately.

Often, though, even the anguish of colic can be alleviated somewhat by some of the methods I have just described.

Certainly, they are at least worth a try.

Question and Answer
C. G.: Will the use of tobacco by a person 20 years old cause heart trouble?

Answer: The use of tobacco will not necessarily cause heart trouble. However, there is more question of the relationship of heavy cigarette smoking over a period of years to lung cancer and other diseases.

Several Things Embarassing To Treasury

Tax Laws Favorable
To Corporation Play
Role in Money Mart

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Other things besides a ceiling on interest rates are keeping the U.S. Treasury financially embarrassed.

One is the tax laws that favor its competitors in the money market — corporations and state and local agencies.

Another is the higher yields that government backed mortgages offer investors — federal guarantees that make these mortgages look as riskless as Treasury securities.

One is the tight money policy by which the Federal Reserve Board is helping the administration in its fight to stave off another inflationary inroad on the purchasing power of your dollar.

And a prime one is the habit of the federal debt to grow and grow. Only Congress — or, some say, an aroused public — can stop that.

To some degree these factors affect both the nonsalable U. S. savings bonds which individuals — most in the lower income brackets — buy, and the salable Treasury securities which look for their market among the banks, other financial institutions and funds, corporations and well-heeled individual investors.

But they apply especially to the marketable securities which have been giving the Treasury its biggest headaches. These problems will remain even if Congress goes along with President Eisenhower's request to lift the ceiling on the interest Uncle Sam can pay when he borrows.

Let's look at these sales difficulties that U.S. marketable securities face:

In today's crowded borrowers market competition can be stiff. And the tax laws give corporations a head start. The Treasury itself picks up about half of a big corporation's borrowing costs. That's because when it borrows it can charge the interest to expenses. Since it must pay the Treasury about half of its gross earnings in income taxes, it saves about half of the interest it pays out. Hence, paying higher rates to get a loan isn't the pain it might be.

Tax laws favor the states and local agencies when they borrow — and they are doing so in increasing volume. Their securities are tax-exempt, appealing to any investor in the upper income brackets. U.S. Treasury securities, on the other hand, are fully taxable at the federal level. Thus they lose much of their charm for the investor who pays high taxes anyway, and sees no percentage in going into a higher bracket.

Another competitor for lending money is the home mortgage. This pays a higher yield than the Treasury now does or would like to. When the mortgage is backed by the Federal Housing Administration or the Veterans Administration the risk to the investor is slight. With today's home building boom there are lots of mortgages for investors to buy.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Samuel G. Neff, fired from his $12,500-a-year post as manager of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund because of alleged Highways Department irregularities in Beaver County, claims he was "tried and convicted in the newspapers."

Neff, long-time political leader and former Beaver County Democratic chairman, spoke out after learning of his dismissal Tuesday by William L. Batt Jr., labor and industry secretary. He promised comment on Batt's action today.

The dismissal followed accusations in a report by Republican State Auditor General Charles C. Smith that Neff forced political contributions from contractors who leased highway equipment in the county.

Nickel Plate Train Schedule Debated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Opponents of a move to discontinue two night trains between Cleveland and Coldwater have until July 6 to prepare counter-arguments.

Attorney-Examiner William E. McGinnis of the Utilities Commission granted the time extension after a rehearing of the matter here today.

The trains are Nos. 9 and 10 of the Nickel Plate Railroad.

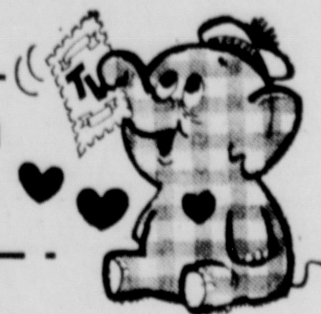

Raymond C. Wojahn, chief traveling auditor for the line, testified today that the Nickel Plate is losing $611 a day round-trip on the trains and that the figure would be doubled if indirect expenses were figured in.

Human Hands Squeeze Life Into Heart

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—For almost 2½ hours human hands squeezed and released the failing heart of a Miami dentist and kept him alive until he could rally.

Quick action by the brother of Dr. Raymond J. Smith, 45, was credited today by medical authorities with saving the dentist's life in what was described as one of the most remarkable cases of its kind on record.

Smith should recover and may return to his practice, said Dr. Robert S. Litwak, chief of thoracic surgery at the University of Miami Medical Center at Jackson Memorial Hospital.

The incident occurred Saturday but was not publicized until Wednesday night. Hospital attendants said Smith returned home from water skiing and complained of chest pains. His wife called his brother, Dr. Donald W. Smith, who is a surgeon who sent him to the hospital.

The brother opened his brother's chest cavity and began massaging the heart. Litwak and others joined him. The heart showed a faint pulse, then began to beat rhythmically.

The hospital said the stricken dentist is still on the "critical list."

Play This Friendship Cool

DEAR ABBY: I am about to break off a friendship of long standing with a very good friend of mine because her husband tried to start something with me when she was called out of town to attend her ailing mother. What I want to know is: Should I tell my friend what happened? She's crazy about her husband and I hate to disillusion her. What excuse should I give her for ending our friendship if I don't tell her the truth?

OLD FRIEND
DEAR ABBY: (and your problem isn't new either) Any "friend" who would give a wife this kind of news could double for an enemy. Let your friend live with her "illusions," limit your association with her to "daytime get-togethers," and avoid her husband.

DEAR ABBY: In 1954 my husband went to a doctor for a check-up. The doctor told him he needed an operation. My husband never went back. It's been almost five years already and my husband says he never felt better. What do you make of this?

MRS. J.H.
DEAR MRS. J.H.: Either your husband didn't need the operation in the first place—or he still needs it. He should re-check with his doctor at once.

DEAR ABBY: I'll soon be married 16 months and the man I married believes it's the woman's place to make the living. We were married four months when he quit his job and said he had no intention of working any more. I bring home $68.70 a week and he says that's plenty for both of us. He's sleeping when I go to work in the morning and watching TV when I come home at night. I have to get the supper. I am 41 years old and he is 34. He is very kind and loving. Should I overlook his laziness?

HELP WANTED
DEAR HELP: If you are able to "overlook" this kind of laziness you are more generous than most women. You have bought yourself a "kind, loving and lazy man" and who (beside yourself) can say you made a bad bargain?

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a girl I love very much. She is 16 and thinks she is pregnant. I don't know what to do because I am younger than she is and couldn't support her if I did marry her. She is scared to death to tell her folks and I am more so. Is there any possible way for her to find out if she is pregnant without waiting six weeks? She is torturing herself. Please tell us what to do right away.

SERIOUS TROUBLE
DEAR SERIOUS: You must tell your parents at once and she must tell hers. They are your best friends and the only ones who can help you DO NOT CONSIDER ANY OTHER SOLUTION.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Human Hands Squeeze Life Into Heart

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—For almost 2 1/2 hours human hands squeezed and released the failing heart of a Miami dentist and kept him alive until he could rally.

Quick action by the brother of Dr. Raymond J. Smith, 45, was credited today by medical authori- ties with saving the dentist's life in what was described as one of the most remarkable cases of its kind on record.

Smith should recover and may return to his practice, said Dr. Robert S. Litwak, chief of thoracic surgery at the University of Miami Medical Center at Jackson Memorial Hospital.

The incident occurred Saturday but was not publicized until Wednesday night. Hospital attend- ants said Smith returned home from water skiing and complained of chest pains. His wife called his brother, Dr. Donald W. Smith, who is a surgeon who sent him to the hospital.

The brother opened his brother's chest cavity and began mas- saging the heart. Litwak and other- ers joined him. The heart showed a faint pulse, then began to beat rhythmically.

The hospital said the stricken dentist is still on the "critical list."

Ike Asks Doctors To Help In Fight Against Inflation

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—President Eisenhower has called upon organized doctors to help write a preventive prescription against inflation in the same way they guard the nation's physical health.

And one way, he told the 108th annual meeting of the American Medical Assn. Tuesday night, is by charging reasonable fees for medical care. He made no accusation that doctors were charging unreasonable rates.

In his speech he hammered anew at what he termed the urgent need for a balanced federal budget.

"For those who will take the trouble to look, there is no difficulty in seeing the relationship between fiscal responsibility and a successful, meaningful life for all in a climate of freedom," he said.

"I am confident that you doctors as community leaders in great urban centers and in the villages and farm areas of America, can do much to promote greater understanding of the importance of this vital relationship."

"So I believe that, as you show us how better to preserve our own health, you can do a great service to yourselves, and to all of us, as you teach that the future of our republic and the free world depends upon our ability to maintain fiscal soundness in government, a robust economy, and a stable dollar."

He led up to this by saying that "the medical profession as much as any other, has a vital interest in preventing inflation."

"Certainly," the President said, "it wants to provide its services for a fee within range of what people can reasonably pay."

As though cautioning against moving into the medical care any possibility of the government field on a large scale Eisenhower said: "If the time ever comes when large numbers of our citizens turn primarily to the government for assistance in what ought to remain a private arrangement between doctor and patient, then we shall have suffered a great loss."

"The cost of inflation is not paid in dollars alone, but in increasing-

Ike Asks Doctors To Help In Fight Against Inflation

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—President Eisenhower has called upon organized doctors to help write a preventive prescription against inflation in the same way they guard the nation's physical health.

And one way, he told the 108th annual meeting of the American Medical Assn. Tuesday night, is by charging reasonable fees for medical care. He made no accusation that doctors were charging unreasonable rates.

In his speech he hammered anew at what he termed the urgent need for a balanced federal budget.

"For those who will take the trouble to look, there is no difficulty in seeing the relationship between fiscal responsibility and a successful, meaningful life for all in a climate of freedom," he said.

"I am confident that you doctors as community leaders in great urban centers and in the villages and farm areas of America, can do much to promote greater understanding of the importance of this vital relationship.

"So I believe that, as you show us how better to preserve our own health, you can do a great service to yourselves, and to all of us, as you teach that the future of our republic and the free world depends upon our ability to maintain fiscal soundness in government, a robust economy, and a stable dollar."

He led up to this by saying that "the medical profession as much as any other, has a vital interest in preventing inflation."

"Certainly," the President said, "it wants to provide its services for a fee within range of what people can reasonably pay."

As though cautioning against moving into the medical care any possibility of the government field on a large scale Eisenhower said: "If the time ever comes when large numbers of our citizens turn primarily to the government for assistance in what ought to remain a private arrangement between doctor and patient, then we shall have suffered a great loss."

"The cost of inflation is not paid in dollars alone, but in increasing.

Hunt Continues in Desert For Mystery Plane's Crew

WESBADEN, Germany (AP)—A U.S. investigating team continued its hunt today for remains of nine U.S. airmen believed to have died 16 years ago after bailing out of their Liberator bomber over the sun-baked Libyan desert.

U.S. Army records have carried the men as dead in action since April 4, 1943, when their big four-engine plane "Lady Be Good" failed to return from a mission against Naples.

Last month a team of geologists seeking oil came on the comparatively undamaged Liberator on hard-packed sands some 400 miles south of Bengasi. Its condition indicated it had made one of the most amazing unmanned landings in history.

Flight gear and fatigue clothing still hung from their places inside the plane. Water jugs and coffee flasks were still full. Guns and ammunition were untouched. So were papers and log books.

The log showed that the plane had done a total of 160 miles flying time before going down.

The condition of the big craft and the desolate area in which it landed indicated that nomadic tribesmen who roam the desert had never spotted the ship.

When word of the discovery got back to headquarters, the U.S. Army took over the case. During World War II the Air Force was part of the Army.

A two-member team from the Mortuary Service headquarters at Frankfurt, Germany, flew to the area on May 11.

An air search was made and then last week a ground team was sent out from Bengasi in special desert vehicles to conduct a slow criss-cross search northward over the desert. So far it has yielded no trace of the missing crew.

First reports indicated that the plane had belly-landed at low altitude. Air Force personnel with experience in Liberators and acquainted with the area in World War II believe the airmen jumped not long before the plane went down. The plane apparently had only one engine in operation.

A search of U.S. Army records turned up the identity of the plane and its crew.

The "Lady Be Good" was assigned to the 514th Bomber Squadron of the 376th Bomber Group operating out of Genima Field near Bengasi. It was due back Genima from Naples just before midnight on the date it went down. The night was rainy and overcast.

The pilot radioed a position report from a spot off the African coast, but investigators believe he was mistaken and that strong north winds of up to 100 m.p.h. actually had carried the plane well over the desert.

"It is believed the merciless heat and privations of a sandy waste, devoid of life and water, probably claimed the lives of the nine-man crew," the investigating team said in a preliminary report.

One of the investigators said he had found dead birds under the Liberator. Apparently they had perished after seeking shelter from the blistering sun. Four miles from the plane the team found the skeleton of a camel partly buried in the sands.

An Air Force spokesman expressed certainty that the men had bailed out and the plane landed on its own.

"The water jugs were still full," he said. "If they had tried to make it across the desert, they certainly would have taken all the water they could."

In making public the names of the crewmen aboard the ill-fated ship, the Army emphasized that the addresses and next-of-kin are taken from 1943 files which may be outdated.

It included these names:

2nd Lt. John S. Woravka; brother Alex C. Woravka, Cleveland; S. Sgt. Vernon I. Moore; father, Ruford V. Moore, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Ohio Senate Votes To Keep Tax Stamps

The wind was taken out of Deddens' sails somewhat when Corrigan reappeared in the middle of the ensuing parliamentary battle. But Deddens, who charged DiSalle was "interfering with the free legislative process," pursued the point over the unexplained absence of Sen. Arthur Blake (D-Belmont).

Deddens asserted that Blake, a foe of the sales tax bill, had gone to Wheeling, W. Va. He charged DiSalle had telephoned officials of a large coal company, not specifically identified, demanding that they get Blake away from the Senate while the bill was being acted upon.

Senate Majority Leader Frank W. King (D-Lucas) said he did not know why Blake was absent and he challenged Deddens to produce proof of his assertions. As afternoon waned into evening, Deddens appeared on the floor with a battery-powered searchlight, and a half-dozen other Republicans placed candles and candlesticks on their desks. The emergency lights were a horseplay reference to another big tax battle a fortnight ago in which the Senate lights were turned off to enforce an unpopular decision to adjourn a wild three-minute session.

State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson, much of whose patronage is involved in sales tax stamp agencies, was in the gallery during most of the long day. He has opposed tax stamp elimination because that would cut him out of his patronage. But, even after the Senate voted to retain the stamps, Ferguson had another challenge.

Sen. Robert R. Shaw (R-Franklin) tried to amend the bill to make only county treasurers the authorized agents to handle the stamps. But this proposal was beaten on a strict party-line vote.

Apparently, Majority Leader King thought he had Sen. Ray T. Miller Jr. (D-Cuyahoga), son of the Democratic chairman of Cuyahoga County, lined up to help junk the tax stamp system. But Miller voted to keep the stamps. That touched off a bitter exchange.

Later, Miller tried to raise the proposed one-cent sales tax floor from 16 cents to 31 cents. He got the support of only one other Democrat, Sen. Corrigan, along with that of 11 Republicans.

Senators — both Democrats and Republicans — have been buried for months under an avalanche of mail opposing elimination of the tax stamps. Most of it came from members of groups which get a total of about five million dollars a year from redemptions of the little receipts at 3 per cent of their face value.

So the showdown vote in all the seven-hour Senate session was on the amendment by Sen. Thomas F. O'Shaughnessy (D-Franklin) to restore the stamps. Eight Democrats and two Republicans crossed party lines to maintain the present stamp system.

Democrats: Baker of Dayton, Calabrese of Cleveland, Dell of Middletown, Miller of Cleveland, O'Shaughnessy of Columbus, Petrash of Cleveland, Porter of Galipolis and Svoboda of Cleveland. Republicans: Guyer of Findlay and Mosher of Oberlin.

All others stuck to the party lines: Republicans for and Democrats against. Blake was the only absentee.

The first hour of the long Senate session was devoted to a debate over the creation of a bipartisan committee to study the capital punishment problem and report to the 1961 Legislature.

Since the Democratic governor tried and failed to get legislative action to abolish the death penalty in this session, Senate Republicans were reluctant to set up a special study committee for fear it would become a propaganda sounding board for DiSalle's views.

GOP members wanted the Legislative Service Commission, a full-time staff employed by the Legislature for between-session studies, to tackle the problem. But the Democrats again prevailed. Three members from each house will be appointed to the study committee along with five members from the public, appointed by the governor.

The House sent the much-amended bill to increase motor vehicle license fees effective March 1 to the Senate with these increases:

Passenger cars from $10 to $12.50 a year.

Trucks and semi-trailers, $10 for each unit in addition to present fees based on the size of the vehicle.

Motorcycles, farm trucks, house trailers and buses, $5 more for each vehicle.

Estimated yield for local highway purposes: 15 million dollars a year.

In order that the 18-year-old voting amendment may reach next November's ballot, the Senate also must approve it by a three-fifths vote.

Rep. John W. Brown (R-Medina), former interim governor, tried, but failed, to amend the proposal to make 18 the age of majority for contracts and other obligations.

The House passed and sent to

Attorney Named High Court Clerk

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An attorney will take over as clerk of the Ohio Supreme Court next Monday.

The court announced today that John W. McMillan, administrative assistant for the past three years, will assume the duties of clerk in addition to his present post. His salary will go from $10,000 to $11,000 a year. McMillan is a former Morrow County probate judge.

Elliot E. Welch, court clerk for the last four years, will return to his former status as deputy clerk. He has been an employee of the court since 1928, working up through the ranks.

Court attaches said both McMillan and Welch are Republicans. They asserted the shift resulted from a desire to have an attorney as clerk rather than from political reasons.

2 Men Escape as Boat Is Shattered by Blast

CINCINNATI (AP)—Robert Koenig, 31, and Robert Porta, 18, escaped injury Wednesday as the 23-foot cabin cruiser "Barracuda" of which Koenig is co-owner, exploded and burned in the Ohio River below Cincinnati. Koenig valued the boat at $4,000, and said he had experienced engine trouble a short while before the blast.

The Senate bills to:

Provide permanent licensing of motor vehicles owned by the state or political subdivisions. Elimination of annual renewals would save taxpayers up to $30,000 a year, sponsors estimated.

Allow non-teaching school employees two weeks' vacation after a year on the job and three weeks after 15 years.

Establish joint fishing licenses for married residents. They would cost $3.25 a couple compared with $2.25 now for individuals.

Authorize counties to use private and public resources in eliminating slum areas.

Allow $30 a day and expenses, in addition to present salary, for common pleas, appellate and juvenile judges while sitting on assignment in other districts.

Mrs. Long Aware of Mate's Illness

NEW YORK (AP) — Blanche Long, wife of Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana says she knew for eight months that he was reaching the breaking point that finally required mental treatment.

Mrs. Long writes in the current issue of Life magazine that "it was just as plain as day."

She said he became obsessed with the idea of running for a fourth term and began driving himself unmercifully.

"I was so sick with worry over him that I called the family together and warned them that we would have to do something or Earl would drive himself to the grave," she said.

She said he admitted he was sick and needed to go to a hospital for a long rest "but he always had something more important to do."

"It got so that I would have to cry myself to sleep at night or hope that sedatives would help me to get some rest," she said.

She said she noticed six weeks ago his condition was getting worse.

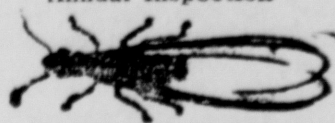

"He began to abuse his closest friends," Mrs. Long related. "He was irritable all the time and his temper was getting shorter and shorter. His friends knew he was not a well man and began to avoid him."

"He started doing things he had never done before. He made the troopers who drive his car travel at 100 m.p.h. where before he had always made them stay down to 55. Everywhere he went he made them run the police siren full blast where before he had forbidden them to use it."

The wind was taken out of Deddens' sails somewhat when Corigan reappeared in the middle of the ensuing parliamentary battle. But Deddens, who charged DiSalle was "interfering with the free legislative process," pursued the point over the unexplained absence of Sen. Arthur Blake (D-Belmont).

Deddens asserted that Blake, a foe of the sales tax bill, had gone to Wheeling, W. Va. He charged DiSalle had telephoned officials of a large coal company, not specifically identified, demanding that they get Blake away from the Senate while the bill was being acted upon.

Senate Majority Leader Frank W. King (D-Lucas) said he did not know why Blake was absent and he challenged Deddens to produce proof of his assertions. As afternoon waned into evening, Deddens appeared on the floor with a battery-powered searchlight, and a half-dozen other Republicans placed candles and candlesticks on their desks. The emergency lights were a horseplay reference to another big tax battle a fortnight ago in which the Senate lights were turned off to enforce an unpopular decision to adjourn a wild three-minute session.

State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson, much of whose patronage is involved in sales tax stamp agencies, was in the gallery during most of the long day. He has opposed tax stamp elimination because that would cut him out of his patronage. But, even after the Senate voted to retain the stamps, Ferguson had another challenge.

Sen. Robert R. Shaw (R-Franklin) tried to amend the bill to make only county treasurers the authorized agents to handle the stamps. But this proposal was beaten on a strict party-line vote.

Apparently, Majority Leader King thought he had Sen. Ray T. Miller Jr. (D-Cuyahoga), son of the Democratic chairman of Cuyahoga County, lined up to help junk the tax stamp system. But Miller voted to keep the stamps. That touched off a bitter exchange.

Later, Miller tried to raise the proposed one-cent sales tax floor from 16 cents to 31 cents. He got the support of only one other Democrat, Sen. Corrigan, along with that of 11 Republicans.

Senators — both Democrats and Republicans — have been buried for months under an avalanche of mail opposing elimination of the tax stamps. Most of it came from members of groups which get a total of about five million dollars a year from redemptions of the little receipts at 3 per cent of their face value.

So the showdown vote in all the seven-hour Senate session was on the amendment by Sen. Thomas F. O'Shaughnessy (D-Franklin) to restore the stamps. Eight Democrats and two Republicans crossed party lines to maintain the present stamp system.

Democrats: Baker of Dayton, Calabrese of Cleveland, Dell of Middletown, Miller of Cleveland, O'Shaughnessy of Columbus, Petras of Cleveland, Porter of Gallopis and Svoboda of Cleveland.

Republicans: Guyer of Findlay and Mosher of Oberlin.

All others stuck to the party lines: Republicans for and Democrats against. Blake was the only absentee.

The first hour of the long Senate session was devoted to a debate over the creation of a bipartisan committee to study the capital punishment problem and report to the 1961 Legislature.

Since the Democratic governor tried and failed to get legislative action to abolish the death penalty in this session, Senate Republicans were reluctant to set up a special study committee for fear it would become a propaganda sounding board for DiSalle's views.

GOP members wanted the Legislative Service Commission, a full-time staff employed by the Legislature for between-session studies, to tackle the problem. But the Democrats again prevailed.

Three members from each house will be appointed to the study committee along with five members from the public, appointed by the governor.

The House sent the much-amended bill to increase motor vehicle license fees effective March 1 to the Senate with these increases:

Passenger cars from $10 to $12.50 a year.

Trucks and semi-trailers, $10 for each unit in addition to present fees based on the size of the vehicle.

Motorcycles, farm trucks, house trailers and buses, $5 more for each vehicle.

Estimated yield for local highway purposes: 15 million dollars a year.

In order that the 18-year-old voting amendment may reach next November's ballot, the Senate also must approve it by a three-fifths vote.

Rep. John W. Brown (R-Medina), former interim governor, tried, but failed, to amend the proposal to make 18 the age of majority for contracts and other obligations.

The House passed and sent to

Attorney Named High Court Clerk

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An attorney will take over as clerk of the Ohio Supreme Court next Monday.

The court announced today that John W. McMillan, administrative assistant for the past three years, will assume the duties of clerk in addition to his present post. His salary will go from $10,000 to $11,000 a year. McMillan is a former Morrow County probate judge.

Elliott E. Welch, court clerk for the last four years, will return to his former status as deputy clerk. He has been an employee of the court since 1928, working up through the ranks.

Court attaches said both McMillan and Welch are Republicans. They asserted the shift resulted from a desire to have an attorney as clerk rather than from political reasons.

Colavito Collects 4 Home Runs in Baltimore Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Baltimore's Memorial Stadium is the toughest home run park in the majors. In the five years it has been a big league ball yard, only seven visiting sluggers had hit as many as two home runs in one game there. No one had hit three in one game.

Yet that's where Cleveland's Rocky Colavito tied a major league record Wednesday night by becoming the eighth player ever to hit four in one game. He also became only the third to do it with successive shots, tagging drives of 360, 400, 400-plus and 425 feet as the Indians blasted the Orioles out of the AL lead 11-8.

Colavito, 25, now has hit 18 for the season, one behind league leader Harmon Killebrew of Washington. These were his first of the year against the Orioles and they came against three right-handed pitchers. Colavito, a right-handed slugger, has hit all but three of his 18 off right-handers.

With Baltimore jolted loose from a deadlock, Chicago's White Sox took a one-game lead in the AL by beating Washington 4-1. New York climbed above .500 for the first time since April 25 by defeating Kansas City 6-4, gaining control of fourth place by one percentage point over Detroit, despite a 10-9 Tiger victory at Boston.

Colavito, who walked in the first inning, drove in six runs and scored five with his 4-for-4 explosion. His homers — for a total of 105 in a five-year career — came in the third with one on, against loser Jerry Walker (4-3); in the fifth (bases empty) and sixth (one on) against Arnie Portocarrero; and in the ninth (bases empty) against Ernie Johnson. Three reached the left field bleachers, the other went over the left-center field fence.

Only Lou Gehrig of the Yankees (1932) and Pat Seery of the White Sox (1948) had hit four in one previously in the AL. Six have done it in the National League with Boston's Bob Lowe (1894),

Ex-Yankee Woody Held Vital Cog in Indian Pennant Hopes

Although the individual performances of many of the heroes of the Cleveland Indians' initial surge in the American League pennant race have tapered off somewhat, one player has displayed a consistency both at bat and in the field as the race passes the one third mark that is most heartening to Tribe fans.

Woody Held, now rated by Manager Joe Gordon as the regular shortstop, is the individual whose work from the opening game has been brilliant in all departments and the 27-year old Californian now appears ready to fulfill the high hopes held for him.

At the plate he has been a consistent performer, owning a most respectable .280 batting average with seven home runs and 20 runs batted in. Although he hasn't been hitting home runs at the fast pace he did in the early days of the campaign when he blasted five in the first 10 days, he is getting more than his share of base hits and dropping hits into all fields.

It is in the field, however, that Held has been most brilliant. Installed as the regular third baseman in a surprise maneuver by Gordon on opening day, Held has given Cleveland fans a brand of third basing that hadn't been witnessed here since the days of Keny Keltner.

AS A MATTER of fact, he hasn't erred at third base yet and when it became necessary to shift him to shortstop following the injury to George Strickland, Held maintained his high quality of play there. He didn't commit his first miscue of the season until last Sunday and this bobbie resulted from a most dubious decision by the official scorer. All in all, Held had handled 149 chances at two positions before he made his first error.

It appears that Held has "made" that ever growing club — ex-New York Yankee youngsters who are now helping other major league clubs, a unit that includes Jackie Jensen, Gus Triandos, Bob Cerv and others. For Woody came into organized baseball in 1951 with the Yankees' Class C Twin Falls club of the Pioneer League.

He started out as an outfielder and still can play an excellent center field because of his great speed and tremendous throwing arm. In his second season in baseball, Held was switched to the infield and he played shortstop and third base for the next five seasons before being elevated to the Yankees prior to the 1957 season.

After being optioned to Denver, Held was sent to Kansas City on June 15, 1957 together with Billy Martin, Ralph Terry and Bob Martyn for Ryne Durbin, Jim Pisoni and Harry Simpson. Although he wound up the season with a .239 batting mark, his 20 homers and 50 RBIs augured well for the future.

However, he started the 1958 season in dismal fashion and the A's finally traded him to Cleveland last June together with Vic Power for Roger Maris, Dick Tomaneck and Preston Ward. His efforts for the Indians in the final half of 1958 were not distinguished but during the winter, Gordon who like Held is a native of Sacramento, spent many hours working with him.

Gordon was aware that Held's fielding ability was outstanding but that he would have to improve at the plate. He spent many hours during the winter as well as at Cleveland's spring drills in Tucson impressing Held that he must level his swing.

Held's work to date has rewarded Gordon and the Indians for Gordon's patience with the youngster. His infield play and that of Power at first are the two reasons why the Indians, last in the majors in fielding in 1958, are now the fielding leaders in both leagues. They have combined to make the Tribe a most interesting looking club.

River Oil Blasts Stonerock's, 12-2

River Oil, taking advantage of some costly errors and timely hitting to score eight runs in the first inning, walked away with a 12-2 decision over Stonerock's TV in softball action at Ted Lewis Park last night.

The Stonerock crew appeared helpless during the first inning uprising as River Oil almost scored at will. Errors, wild pitches, fielding lapses and a hit or two did the damage.

Stonerock's never recovered from the disastrous first frame as River Oil went on to tally a single run in the third and three in the fifth. The game was called at the end of five innings after the Oil-men had accumulated a 10-run margin. League rules specify that a 10-run lead by the fifth means the game may be called a victory.

Stonerock's started what might have been a rally in the second when Butch Manion clouted a homerun into deep left field. However, the uprising ended with Manion's blast and the TV nine was able to score only one more run during the evening, this tally coming in the third.

PITCHER Phil Roney got credit for the win as he fanned two and walked none. He was relieved in the fifth by Scott who struckout one and walked one.

Kenny Reid, failing to last the first inning, suffered the loss. He walked two and whiffed none. Manion came on in a commendable relief job during the disastrous first frame.

RO scored its 12 runs on nine hits, including a homer by Dick Tippie and a double by Perry Nelson. Stonerock's collected five bingles, with Manion's long circuit poke being the only one for extra bases.

The game last night was the first in third round play. River

Oil and Stonerock's still must meet in a postponed second round tilt to determine the winner of the round. Circleville Merchants won the first round.

An exhibition contest tonight at the park calls for the Circleville Merchants to meet a team from Washington C. H. The test will start at 7:30.

Colavito Collects 4 Home Runs in Baltimore Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Baltimore's Memorial Stadium is the toughest home run park in the majors. In the five years it has been a big league ball yard, only seven visiting sluggers had hit as many as two home runs in one game there. No one had hit three in one game.

Yet that's where Cleveland's Rocky Colavito tied a major league record Wednesday night by becoming the eighth player ever to hit four in one game. He also became only the third to do it with successive shots, tagging drives of 360, 400, 400-plus and 425 feet as the Indians blasted the Orioles out of the AL lead 11-8.

Colavito, 25, now has hit 18 for the season, one behind league leader Harmon Killebrew of Washington. These were his first of the year against the Orioles and they came against three right-handed pitchers. Colavito, a right-handed slugger, has hit all but three of his 18 off right-handers.

With Baltimore jolted loose from a deadlock, Chicago's White Sox took a one-game lead in the AL by beating Washington 4-1. New York climbed above .500 for the first time since April 25 by defeating Kansas City 6-4, gaining control of fourth place by one percentage point over Detroit, despite a 10-9 Tiger victory at Boston.

Colavito, who walked in the first inning, drove in six runs and scored five with his 4-for-4 explosion. His homers — for a total of 105 in a five-year career — came in the third with one on, against loser Jerry Walker (4-3); in the fifth (bases empty) and sixth (one on) against Arnie Portocarrero; and in the ninth (bases empty) against Ernie Johnson. Three reached the left field bleachers, the other went over the left-center field fence.

Only Lou Gehrig of the Yankees (1932) and Pat Seerey of the White Sox (1948) had hit four in one previously in the AL. Six have done it in the National League with Boston's Bob Lowe (1894), the first, and Gehrig the only ones to hit four in succession.

The Indians finished with six homers which were good for all but one of their runs. Minnie Minoso and Billy Martin hit the others the seventh for both.

Right-hander Gary Bell (5-5) was the winner with Mike Garcia's help in a four-run seventh.

Early Wynn (8-4) gained his first complete game in five starts for the White Sox, beating the Senators with a five-hitter. A hit batter and an error by catcher Hal Naragon, allowing Al Smith to score while attempting an inside-the-park homer, gave the Sox two runs in the first inning against Hal Woodeschick (0-1).

Elston Howard's two-run double clinched it for the Yankees as they scored four in the seventh. It was their 11th victory in their last 13 games and third in a row. Art Ditmar (4-4) was the winner against Bud Daley (5-4).

Al Kaline drove in four Detroit runs with four hits bringing in the winning run in the eighth with his second single. Reliever Tom Morgan (1-1) was the winner. Mike Fornieles (0-1) lost it in relief.

For all their pitching depth, maybe Milwaukee's Braves made a mistake when they ended Gene Conley's rebellion by peddling the right-hander to Philadelphia.

They've lost seven of their last 12 games, with only three complete games from their staff in that span. And Wednesday night they lost their second in a row, 5-2 at St. Louis, reducing their National League lead to one game while Conley was beating Los Angeles 2-1 with a four-hitter.

Conley, who was peddled after an 0-6 season because he refused to quit his winter job with professional basketball's champion Boston Celtics, has lost as many as he's won (3-3), but that's not bad for a pitcher with a last place club.

While the Braves continued to stumble, second place San Francisco closed in with an 11-7 victory at Pittsburgh. Cincinnati defeated the Chicago Cubs 6-4.

Kid Baseball Managers Meet

Kid Baseball major and minor Little League managers will meet at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the Coca Cola Bottling Plant, 713 S. Scioto St.

The meeting will be the final managers' session before the baseball season gets underway. All uniforms, except shirts, will be distributed.

Managers are urged to attend for final discussion on league rules and other points that need to be settled.

Ex-Yankee Woody Held Vital Cog in Indian Pennant Hopes

Although the individual performances of many of the heroes of the Cleveland Indians' initial surge in the American League pennant race have tapered off somewhat, one player has displayed a consistency both at bat and in the field as the race passes the one third mark that is most heartening to Tribe fans.

Woody Held, now rated by Manager Joe Gordon as the regular shortstop, is the individual whose work from the opening game has been brilliant in all departments and the 27-year old Californian now appears ready to fulfill the high hopes held for him.

At the plate he has been a consistent performer, owning a most respectable .280 batting average with seven home runs and 20 runs batted in. Although he hasn't been hitting home runs at the fast pace he did in the early days of the campaign when he blasted five in the first 10 days, he is getting more than his share of base hits and dropping hits into all fields.

It is in the field, however, that Held has been most brilliant. Installed as the regular third baseman in a surprise maneuver by Gordon on opening day, Held has given Cleveland fans a brand of third basing that hadn't been witnessed here since the days of Ken Keltner.

AS A MATTER of fact, he hasn't erred at third base yet and when it became necessary to shift him to shortstop following the injury to George Strickland, Held maintained his high quality of play there. He didn't commit his first miscue of the season until last Sunday and this bobbie resulted from a most dubious decision by the official scorer. All in all, Held had handled 149 chances at two positions before he made his first error.

It appears that Held has "made" that ever growing club — ex-New York Yankee youngsters who are now helping other major league clubs, a unit that includes Jackie Jensen, Gus Triandos, Bob Cerv and others. For Woody came into organized baseball in 1951 with the Yankees' Class C Twin Falls club of the Pioneer League.

Two Kid Baseball Practice Games Set

He started out as an outfielder and still can play an excellent center field because of his great speed and tremendous throwing arm. In his second season in baseball, Held was switched to the infield and he played shortstop and third base for the next five seasons before being elevated to the Yankees prior to the 1957 season.

After being optioned to Denver, Held was sent to Kansas City on June 15, 1957 together with Billy Martin, Ralph Terry and Bob Martyn by Ryne Duren, Jim Pisoni and Harry Simpson. Although he wound up the season with a .239 batting mark, his 20 homers and 50 RBIs augured well for the future.

However, he started the 1958 season in dismal fashion and the A's finally traded him to Cleveland last June together with Vic Power for Roger Maris, Dick Tomane and Preston Ward. His effort for the Indians in the final half of 1958 were not distinguished but during the winter, Gordon who like Held is a native of Sacramento, spent many hours working with him.

Gordon was aware that Held's fielding ability was outstanding but that he would have to improve at the plate. He spent many hours during the winter as well as at Cleveland's spring drills in Tucson impressing Held that he must level his swing.

Held's work to date has rewarded Gordon and the Indians for Gordon's patience with the youngster. His infield play and that of Power at first are the two reasons why the Indians, last in the majors in fielding in 1958, are now the fielding leaders in both leagues. They have combined to make the Tribe a most interesting looking club.

River Oil Blasts Stonerock's, 12-2

River Oil, taking advantage of some costly errors and timely hitting to score eight runs in the first inning, walked away with a 12-2 decision over Stonerock's TV in softball action at Ted Lewis Park last night.

The Stonerock crew appeared helpless during the first inning uprising as River Oil almost scored at will. Errors, wild pitches, fielding lapses and a hit or two did the damage.

Stonerock's never recovered from the disastrous first frame as River Oil went on to tally a single run in the third and three in the fifth. The game was called at the end of five innings after the Oilmen had accumulated a 10-run margin. League rules specify that a 10-run lead by the fifth means the game may be called a victory.

Stonerock's started what might have been a rally in the second when Butch Manion clouted a homerun into deep left field. However, the uprising ended with Manion's blast and the TV nine was able to score only one more run during the evening, this tally coming in the third.

Oil and Stonerock's still must meet in a postponed second round tilt to determine the winner of the round. Circleville Merchants won the first round.

County Youth Does Well in Chicken Contest

Glenn LaRue, Route 2, Ashville, exhibited 10 birds Tuesday in the Chicken of Tomorrow Contest. In the district judging held at Southworth Poultry in Columbus, Glenn said that the top entry was five birds that weighed 51 pounds in 9 weeks.

Glenn's top five birds weighed 43 pounds which is well above average for broilers in 9 weeks, according to Clarence J. Cunningham, county extension agent, 4-H.

Glenn started with 100 birds nine weeks ago on Monday. At the final weighing, Jay Hay and Wayne Brown, Jr., 4-H advisors in Walnut and Madison Twp., certified that Glenn's 100 birds weighed 364½ pounds. So the average of all birds was over 3½ pounds with 100 per cent liveability.

Glenn was the only entry from Pickaway County in the Chicken of Tomorrow contest this year. This was his third successive year to participate.

Kingfish Huey's Big Shadow Still Falls Across Louisiana

Editors Note: Huey P. Long introduced Louisiana to a type of government it had never known when he became governor in 1928. Gov. Earl K. Long, his younger brother who was confined to a Texas Psychiatric clinic two weeks ago, is the unchallenged master of Huey's inheritance. This second of a three - part series traces Huey's rise to power.

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP News feature Writer
BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—At night a spotlight beams down from the 34-story Louisiana State Capitol on the sunken garden where Huey P. Long lies buried beneath his massive bronze statue.

By day there are flowers and tourists and an occasional unforgetting friend or foe pausing in remembrance of the incredible era when every man was promised he would be king — and one man almost made it.

But night or day Huey's stocky shadow falls across Louisiana, dividing its people as it has for the past 30 years into two hostile, politically powerful factions: those who revere the late Kingfish as the best friend the poor man ever had, and those who remember him as a ruthless tyrant, petty, vulgar and vindictive.

This is the house that Huey built. His name, his image, his memory stamped indelibly on the electorate. The resulting Long vs. anti-Long alignment of voters provides the state with the South's only equivalent of a thriving two-party system.

When Gov. Earl K. Long, Huey's younger brother, was shot full of sedatives and flown off to a Texas mental clinic after two profane and abusive speeches to the Legislature, Louisiana added another dramatic chapter in the bizarre history of its famous political dynasty.

Speculation continues that perhaps this is the last chapter, that Earl Long even if he returns to health can never again pick up the pieces of his badly shaken political empire.

But in the past the Longs have shown amazing comeback power. The dynasty survived impeachment, assassination, million-dollar scandals, several reform waves and numerous interfamily battles without losing its emotional tug on the hearts of the people.

First there was Huey, the founder and still patron saint of the dynasty.

The eighth of nine children of a backwoods farmer in the pine lands of Winn Parish, north-central Louisiana, Huey entered public life as a traveling salesman. Glib, ambitious, gifted with folksy philosophy and earthy humor, Huey peddled a kitchen lard door to door, and studied law in his spare time. Sitting out World War I because he "wasn't mad at anybody," he won election to the Railway Commission, promptly became a hero by championing the "little people" in tilts with the Standard Oil Co., the telephone company and major utilities.

By the time he was 30, the minimum age for qualifying, Huey ran for governor, promising free school text books, free trapping, good roads and reduced gas tax. Rain kept his growing upland following from turning out in the expected numbers, but four years later he swept in on the wings of bigger and better promises.

Huey kept his promises. He came through with the roads, bridges, textbooks, reduced utility rates, and, true to his threats as well as his promises, sent a New

Belmont Gambling Writs Forwarded

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More affidavits supporting charges of gambling in Belmont County have been forwarded to local officials, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle reported today.

He said he has informed the county prosecutor that the state has people ready to testify if charges are filed.

William Irwin, Belmont County prosecutor, asked the state a week ago to file information with the courts so that grand jury proceedings can be bypassed.

The governor also said he had discussed the possibility of asking Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy to step into the county and prosecute gamblers if local authorities do not take action.

Orleans toll bridge company into bankruptcy by building a free bridge.

Less than a year in office, Huey was impeached and tried. The charges included bribery, misappropriation of state funds, removal of school officials for political purposes, violent abuse of citizens and officials, misconduct in public places, lobbying on the floor of the Legislature, and seeking to arrange the murder of J. Y. Sanders Jr., an anti-Long member of the House.

By adroit manipulation of the Legislature, Huey won on all counts and embarked on a ruthless power grab that soon brought the whole state to heel.

"I used to try to get things done by saying 'please,'" he grimly announced "That didn't work and now I'm a dynamiter. I dynamite 'em out of my path."

With the help of the National Guard, the state police and a rubber - stamp Legislature that he boasted he "could buy like a sack of potatoes," the Kingfish reduced the apathetic citizenry to a state of political slavery. Shrewdly, he disguised his dictatorship at first by playing the role of rustic clown, marching with the band at Louisiana State football games, receiving a German admiral in green pajamas and indulging in other bits of comic relief that soon wore thin.

Huey the dynamiter moved on to the U.S. Senate without relinquishing his hold on the state. He ran afoul of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, whom he helped nominate, when his share-the-wealth program, promising every family $4,000 for a home, an automobile and a radio by liquidating all personal fortunes over $3,000, boomed him into national prominence. "Every man was a king but no man wore a crown" was the catchy slogan Huey unabashedly lifted from William Jennings Bryan's Cross of Gold speech—and hoped would carry him to the presidency.

Federal income tax inspectors were ready to move in and cut Huey down when an assassin's bullet did the job for them in the marble hallway of the magnificent skyscraper capital that Huey built without knowing it was to become his headstone.

Before he died, Huey had a word of advice for his followers: "If those fellows ever try to use the powers I've given them without me to hold them down, they'll all land in the penitentiary."

The warning went unheeded. The following administration, riding the Long dynamite wagon out of control, embarked on a fantastic orgy of kickbacks, deducts, double dips and graft that plundered the state of an estimated 100 million dollars and saw Gov. Richard Leche, President James Monroe Smith of Louisiana State University and several lesser officials go to the penitentiary.

County Youth Does Well in Chicken Contest

Glenn LaRue, Route 2, Ashville, exhibited 10 birds Tuesday in the Chicken of Tomorrow Contest. In the district judging held at South-west Poultry in Columbus, Glenn said that the top entry was five birds that weighed 51 pounds in 9 weeks.

Glenn's top five birds weighed 43 pounds which is well above average for broilers in 9 weeks, according to Clarence J. Cunningham, county extension agent, 4-H.

Glenn started with 100 birds nine weeks ago on Monday. At the final weighing, Jay Hay and Wayne Brown, Jr., 4-H advisors in Walnut and Madison Twp., certified that Glenn's 100 birds weighed 364 1/2 pounds. So the average of all birds was over 3 1/2 pounds with 100 percent liveability.

Glenn was the only entry from Pickaway County in the Chicken of Tomorrow contest this year. This was his third successive year to participate.

Kingfish Huey's Big Shadow Still Falls Across Louisiana

Editors Note: Huey P. Long introduced Louisiana to a type of government it had never known when he became governor in 1928. Gov. Earl K. Long, his younger brother who was confined to a Texas Psychiatric clinic two weeks ago, is the unchallenged master of Huey's inheritance. This second of a three-part series traces Huey's rise to power.

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—At night a spotlight beams down from the 34-story Louisiana State Capitol on the sunken garden where Huey P. Long lies buried beneath his massive bronze statue.

By day there are flowers and tourists and an occasional unforgetting friend or foe pausing in remembrance of the incredible era when every man was promised he would be king—and one man almost made it.

But night or day Huey's stocky shadow falls across Louisiana, dividing its people as it has for the past 30 years into two hostile, politically powerful factions: those who revere the late Kingfish as the best friend the poor man ever had, and those who remember him as a ruthless tyrant, petty, vulgar and vindictive.

This is the house that Huey built. His name, his image, his memory stamped indelibly on the electorate. The resulting Long vs. anti-Long alignment of voters poised the state with the South's only equivalent of a thriving two-party system.

When Gov. Earl K. Long, Huey's younger brother, was shot full of sedatives and flown off to a Texas mental clinic after two profane and abusive speeches to the Legislature, Louisiana added another dramatic chapter in the bizarre history of its famous political dynasty.

Speculation continues that perhaps this is the last chapter, that Earl Long even if he returns to health can never again pick up the pieces of his badly shaken political empire.

But in the past the Longs have shown amazing comeback power. The dynasty survived impeachment, assassination, million-dollar scandals, several reform waves and numerous interfamily battles without losing its emotional tug on the hearts of the people.

First there was Huey, the founder and still patron saint of the dynasty.

The eighth of nine children of a backwoods farmer in the pine lands of Winn Parish, north-central Louisiana, Huey entered public life as a traveling salesman. Glib, ambitious, gifted with folksy philosophy and earthy humor, Huey peddled a kitchen lard door to door, and studied law in his spare time. Sitting out World War I because he "wasn't mad at anybody," he won election to the Railway Commission, promptly became a hero by championing the "little people" in tilts with the Standard Oil Co., the telephone company and major utilities.

By the time he was 30, the minimum age for qualifying, Huey ran for governor, promising free school text books, free trapping, good roads and reduced gas tax. Rain kept his growing uplands following from turning out in the expected numbers, but four years later he swept in on the wings of bigger and better promises.

Huey kept his promises. He came through with the roads, bridges, textbooks, reduced utility rates, and, true to his threats as well as his promises, sent a New

Belmont Gambling Writs Forwarded

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More affidavits supporting charges of gambling in Belmont County have been forwarded to local officials, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle reported today.

He said he has informed the county prosecutor that the state has people ready to testify if charges are filed.

William Irwin, Belmont County prosecutor, asked the state a week ago to file information with the courts so that grand jury proceedings can be bypassed.

The governor also said he had discussed the possibility of asking Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy to step into the county and prosecute gamblers if local authorities do not take action.

Orleans toll bridge company into bankruptcy by building a free bridge.

Less than a year in office, Huey was impeached and tried. The charges included bribery, misappropriation of state funds, removal of school officials for political purposes, violent abuse of citizens and officials, misconduct in public places, lobbying on the floor of the Legislature, and seeking to arrange the murder of J. Y. Sanders Jr., an anti-Long member of the House.

By adroit manipulation of the Legislature, Huey won on all counts and embarked on a ruthless power grab that soon brought the whole state to heel.

"I used to try to get things done by saying 'please,'" he grimly announced. "That didn't work and now I'm a dynamite. I dynamite 'em out of my path."

With the help of the National Guard, the state police and a rubber-stamp Legislature that he boasted he "could buy like a sack of potatoes," the Kingfish reduced the apathetic citizenry to a state of political slavery. Shrewdly, he disguised his dictatorship at first by playing the role of rustic clown, marching with the band at Louisiana State football games, receiving a German admiral in green pajamas and indulging in other bits of comic relief that soon wore thin.

Huey the dynamiter moved on to the U.S. Senate without relinquishing his hold on the state. He ran afoul of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, whom he helped nominate, when his share-the-wealth program, promising every family $4,000 for a home, an automobile and a radio by liquidating all personal fortunes over $3,000, boomed him into national prominence. "Every man was a king but no man wore a crown" was the catchy slogan Huey unabashedly lifted from William Jennings Bryan's Cross of Gold speech—and hoped would carry him to the presidency.

Federal income tax inspectors were ready to move in and cut Huey down when an assassin's bullet did the job for them in the marble hallway of the magnificent skyscraper capital that Huey built without knowing it was to become his headstone.

Before he died, Huey had a word of advice for his followers: "If those fellows ever try to use the powers I've given them without me to hold them down, they'll all land in the penitentiary."

The warning went unheeded. The following administration, riding the Long dynamite wagon out of control, embarked on a fantastic orgy of kickbacks, deducts, double dips and graft that plundered the state of an estimated 100 million dollars and saw Gov. Richard Leche, President James Monroe Smith of Louisiana State University and several lesser officials go to the penitentiary.
